

Bibliography of Suicide Prevention Research for Colleges and Universities

This sheet lists survey results and studies relevant to different aspects of campus suicide prevention and mental health promotion. Campus mental health researchers, staff in campus counseling centers or health promotion offices, campus administrators, campus suicide prevention task force members, or other suicide prevention professionals working in college and university settings can use this research to support their efforts. Please also see the Suicide Prevention Resource Center's demographic fact sheet Suicide Among College and University Students in the United States.
