

Kim Novak

Biography

Kimberly Novak, CEO NovakTalks, is an independent consultant for campus safety, hazing prevention, student risk management, and student organization development. Additionally, she serves Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity as the director of health and safety. She is recognized as a national expert in student-focused risk management, organization conduct, hazing prevention, and involving students in campus safety efforts. She has been invited to speak at national conferences and on college campuses around the country and has served as faculty for several nationally-sponsored professional institutes and leadership programs. Her work in the field of hazing prevention resulted in the development, design, and facilitation of the Novak Institute for Hazing Prevention, a successful 10-year program that in 2018 will become the Interdisciplinary Institute for Hazing Prevention.

Prior to embarking on her consulting career, Kim served as the director for student and campus community development at Arizona State University (ASU), Downtown Phoenix campus. Her primary responsibilities involved the development and supervision of a team that led student conduct programs, high risk behavior education, student affairs risk management, student advocacy services, crisis intervention and response as well as campus safety for the new urban campus. She was also the assistant director for student affairs risk management at Arizona State University, Tempe Campus where she led the design and implementation of a comprehensive and proactive risk management model for the division of student affairs. Prior to joining the ASU community, Kim worked for eight years at Texas A&M University where she served as coordinator for student judicial services as well as program coordinator for risk management and organizational development and led the implementation of the University's internationally recognized proactive risk management plan for student organizations.

Kim has been awarded countless honors for her work with college students and professionals, including interfraternal accolades from Kappa Alpha Order, Zeta Beta Tau, Pi Kappa Phi, and Sigma Phi Beta. In 2013, she was honored with the Silver Medal by the North American Inter-Fraternal Conference for her leadership in advancing the fraternal movement and for her hazing prevention work.

Kim approaches her work with college students, and those that support them, with the heart of an advocate and is committed to the advancement of communities of care on college campuses across the country.
